

Research

Transwestern's in-house researchers are the best and brightest in the industry, delivering a higher quality of research and insight across multiple markets in the U.S. and around the world. While our global resources and research capabilities are always growing, our approach to market research and actionable insights will always be people-driven and client-focused. The way we see it, better is bigger.

BETTER COVERAGE

With 34 offices throughout the country, we have skilled research consultants from coast to coast. Their expertise is complemented by the vast resources of our consulting affiliate, Delta Associates. Our experts work in concert with Transwestern professionals in all other services lines to provide a higher level of informed service.

BETTER DATA

In addition to research services performed directly for clients, Transwestern and Delta Associates create proprietary research reports that are distributed to clients, the media and friends of the firm. Our quarterly, annual and industry-specific market data provides valuable insights for developers, investors, owners and occupiers of all types of real estate.

BETTER APPROACH

We are guided by our culture and values, and Transwestern researchers epitomize the thoughtful, considered and personalized approach of our organization. They can always be counted on to customize their work to clients' needs and go above and beyond to deliver The Transwestern Experience.

Transwestern produces annual TrendLines® events in major markets, including Houston and Washington, D.C.
